The Lawrence Schools Foundation prides itself in providing resources that inspire learning, enrich teaching and enhance opportunities for students in the Lawrence Public Schools.

The Foundation exists to ensure our students, educators and staff have every opportunity to thrive, succeed and create positive change in our communities. The Foundation has never been in a stronger position to support this vital mission.

Private gifts, prudent investment strategies, an outstanding Board, and a dedicated team of community leaders have helped the Foundation to achieve unprecedented growth during the past decade. Because of you, we know that everybody benefits from great public schools.

Dena Johnston, Executive Director

Being a part of the Lawrence Schools Foundation Board of Trustees is truly a rewarding experience. Our mission is to provide the support for our teachers, students and staff that is essential to their success.

I believe that our community steps up to the challenge time and time again to provide the Foundation with the resources necessary to accomplish our goals. I would encourage everyone to get involved and see what gifts and talents you can provide to ensure that our kids have the tools they need to succeed now and in the future.

Tim Mock, President, Board of Directors
Together we create community.

We know that strong schools are a hallmark of a strong community. So we work hard to build community partnerships through inspiring events like the Community Education Breakfast, the Foundation Follies, the Expanding Performing Arts Access Dinner, Ovation! and more. We also do this through civic involvement and good old fashioned honest conversation. This kind of currency sparks interest in our schools and generates momentum for the cause — sustaining student achievement and affirming teaching excellence. And everybody benefits.
Partners LEAP to help tornado victims
After a massive tornado in May 2019 devastated homes and businesses in south Lawrence, teachers at Billy Mills Middle School asked what could be done to help. Principal Keith Jones sent a mass text to the school’s LEAP partners who responded with offers of support within minutes. “The answer was an obvious yes,” says Ashley Corbin of Raising Cane’s. Terry and Robin Jacobsen and their family, themselves strong supporters of Lawrence Public Schools, received quick help. Hy-Vee and McDonald’s donated food. Teachers brought cases of water and fruit. Raising Cane’s supplied gift cards and hosted a fundraiser for the I.C.A.N. Fund to support others affected. Says Dr. Jones, “It was overwhelming to receive the support in such little time.”

Strong partnership supports student achievement opportunities
A $50,000 donation from the Truity Foundation is helping fund two important projects. In connection with Truity’s partnership with the University of Kansas, the Jayhawk Blueprint Program offsets costs for students who want to access college level courses and may not otherwise be able to afford it. And the Equal Opportunity Schools Program helps ensure equitable access to Advanced Placement courses. “This is equity work in action,” says Dr. Anthony Lewis, superintendent of Lawrence Public Schools. “This will be how we will improve academic outcomes for more students. We are grateful that Truity and the Lawrence Schools Foundation are willing to invest in these scholars.”

Teacher finds another excellent way to give
In 2015, Cara McNorton, then a 5th grade teacher at Kennedy Elementary, received a $5,000 Dedication to Education Award from Lawrence Schools Foundation. McNorton chose to put her award toward a future scholarship program for Kennedy students, and school staff and families participated in a 5K walk/run to raise additional funds for it. “We wanted our students to know that we believed in them and cared enough about their success to create a scholarship that would be waiting for them,” McNorton says.

The Lawrence Education Achievement Partners (LEAP) program matches schools with businesses and community organizations, and magic happens. LEAP partners may focus on scholastic enrichment, such as reading to kids in class, mentoring, tutoring or training, or donating classroom supplies. Others volunteer to help at school events or make monetary or in-kind donations to support them. Many sponsor Lawrence Schools Foundation signature events. Our LEAP partners enjoy being involved with the schools and learning from the students or teachers.
While we consider everybody superstars when they volunteer to support our schools, some organizations stand out because their combined support totals $10,000 or more in a school year for their partner school, the district, or the Lawrence Schools Foundation. Thank you to the following 2018-2019 Master LEAP partners:
